Dedicated to dental health

The way we work

The way we work reflects our preventive approach to your dental care and our commitment to helping you keep your teeth strong and your gums healthy.

"Conscientious practice and good quality of care."

The team and what patients think

Alan graduated from Glasgow University in 1981. After a short period in Glasgow, he moved to London. While he has always been committed to general practice and the wellbeing of patients, he also strongly believes in developing skills and techniques in order to deliver optimum clinical standards. He has been involved in professional organisations at both a local and national level.

"Alan is very professional in his advice and I have absolute trust in him."

Janine qualified as a dental hygienist from King's College Dental Hospital in 1984. As regular patients know well, she is caring and firm and she likes to ensure that what she begins in the practice is followed up at home.

"Of great benefit in keeping my gums in good order - I attend regularly."

Michaela joined the practice in April 2008 and embarked on her training as a dental nurse. She carries out nursing and reception duties and is the first point of contact in the practice.

"Very good, helpful and efficient practice."

Your first appointment

A first appointment takes up to an hour for a thorough assessment and to discuss your priorities for your oral health and smile. Once you have joined the practice, in addition to a regular appointment with Alan, it's recommended that all patients see hygienist Janine twice a year.

Whenever and whoever you see, you can rely on:

- Excellent clinical and professional standards
- Time to discuss your dental health needs and wishes
- Meticulous sterilisation of all instruments

We also offer:

- Advanced treatments such as dental implants
- Cosmetic improvements such as teeth whitening
- Emergency care and treatment

Appointments

The practice is open six days a week and we offer some late and early appointments in order to fit in with your schedule.

Costs and finance options

Under 18s can be treated on the National Health Service or privately while adults are treated privately only.

For patients determined to achieve optimum dental health and who want to plan their dental spending, we offer membership of Denplan Essentials. A regular monthly payment covers essential care and also gives members a discount on restorative treatments.
